Meeting of Railroad Representatives.

NEW YORK Oct 1—An informal meeting of representatives of the trunk railroads involved in the present railroad war was held in this city yesterday, gentlemen from the Grand Trunk, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Erie roads were present. The object was to settle the differences that led to the war and the consequent reduction of freight rates. All the gentlemen present agreed that a settlement ought to be reached, but in the absence of the representatives of the New York Central nothing definite could be done.

Letter from Chas. F. Adams, Jr.

MANSFIELD O. Oct 1—The following letter from Hon Charles Francis Adams in response to an invitation to speak here, has been received by the Democratic committee:

QUINCY, Mass., [illegible] Sept.

Dear Sir: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your very flattering letter inviting me to address my fellow citizens of Ohio on the present state of the political affairs of the country. It is now a long while since I attempted such a thing and in the condition of physical health especially of my voice I must plead to be excused from undertaking the service. The question before us seems to resolve itself into this: Whether a genuine reform of the evils that have been brought on the country under the Republican administration of the last eight years is to be expected by continuing the same influence in power or whether it would not be wiser to make a complete change and entrust the prosecution of reform to a new and fresh set of men. The disclosures of the last few years distinctly prove that while the existing organization has been encumbered with corruption and not even the most earnest efforts of honest men of the Republican party have been effectual to check it. It is plain that the confidence of the majority of the party is not withdrawn from those men who have been most deeply compromised by their conduct before the world and that it has not been placed in those who appear to have been the most strenuous and efficient agents in a policy of reform. I have to say in no derogation of Mr. Hayes that it seems to me at least very singular that in a fearful crisis like this a person should have been selected who has thus far had no record on this subject and that not one individual who had really committed himself by his previous course to a policy of reform should have been seriously supported. The meagre vote given Bristow in the convention appears to have embraced all the enthusiasm sincerely working for that one great object. On the other hand the action of the convention at St Louis shows a wholly different spirit. Not satisfied with making much the strongest declaration of the principles on which they proposed to proceed they went on directly to nominate by a large majority a man who by his energy and vigorous prosecution of the difficult and dangerous task of reform in his own State, had given the strongest pledges to the country, not simply of his will but of his power to meet emergencies of all sorts. No wonder that all the ferocity of the wolves and tigers who feed upon the offal of the public crib should be vented on him. Their passion only goes to prove the injustice of their virulence. It should be in the mind of calm observers the most convincing proof of the wisdom of this choice. Mr. Tilden is not called upon to promise what he will do in certain emergencies; what he has done is a better pledge than all the words in the dictionary. Another strong reason in my mind for preferring Mr Tilden in this emergency is that a new and clear policy towards the Southern States may be inaugurated free from all the obstacles hitherto raised by the class of public men of the North, who live by ingratiating themselves with every element remaining among us of the evil passions raised during war. So long as this course is tolerated there will be no real harmony between the sections. This is a favorable moment for stamping this spirit of malignity under our feet, by selecting a man whose well known fairness and impartiality may reinstate mutual confidence and ultimately unite the whole people. We need this very much in the present low condition of our public affairs. We need more to fortify the views of our position by foreign nations. In short, the time has come for the inauguration of a wholly new and vigorous policy by a thoroughly competent and experienced man. That man I hope and believe will be found in Samuel J Tilden. I remain very truly yours

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS

Moody and Sankey.

CHICAGO Oct. 1—The Moody and Sankey meetings opened this morning at 8 o'clock. All the arrangements about the great tabernacle are nearly completed. 7,000 people greeted Moody's first appearance. Many city pastors were on the platform. Sankey sang with good effect and the choir was harmonious. Dr Goodwin of the First Congregational Church prayed with fervor and a meeting sermon by Moody was characteristic and directed to Christian work, his text being John 11:39, "Jesus said take ye away the stone." The point of the discourse was the duty of Christians to rid their hearts of whatsoever rendered them unfit for the Lord's use—pride, covetousness, unbelief, prejudice and sectarian bigotry. After the benediction by Bishop Cheney, were great hand shaking and hearty greetings. Half an hour before the time for the afternoon service the tabernacle was filled, and there were people enough in the street to fill a dozen churches. Moody preached from the words "He that reapeth receiveth wages"—John 4:36. The discourse was a perfect torrent of gospel enthusiasm. Messrs Kittredge, Chamberlain, Goodwin and Thompson led an overflow meeting in Farwell Hall. At the evening meeting in Farwell Hall twelve persons proffered themselves as seeking Christ. There will be sermons every evening this week to Christians.

Church on Fire—Cool Behavior.

CINCINNATI Oct 1—During service in the Saint Paul's Episcopal church this morning the roof of the edifice was discovered to be on fire. The congregation were dismissed and passed out quietly, the organist playing a voluntary. After the building had been emptied engines were summoned and the fire extinguished. There was a comparatively small loss.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO Oct 1—The wheat market during the past week has felt the full force of the corner but the manipulators have not pushed their advantage, and settlements of September were made yesterday at $1 10½, nearly the highest price. The lowest price for the week was $1 07½. This time last year the price was about $1 12. The market closed rather heavy for options owing to the unnatural pressure which has been exerted for the last month and to the probability of heavy receipts for some weeks to come as country granaries are reported overstocked. Corn has been rather steady, ranging from 46½c to 47½c and closing at 46½c. Receipts of this cereal have been almost unprecedentedly heavy. Oats have shown little change. Rye has declined a trifle and barley which has also been manipulated has been strong, closing at 87c. Receipts for the past week were: Wheat, 431,000 bushels; corn 2,356,000; oats 724,000. Last year the shipments for the week were: Wheat, 211,000; corn 1,601,000; oats 172,000 against wheat, 680,000; corn 721,000; oats 566,000 last year. As the market for grains has been held rather higher than their marketable value, their is little prospect of any considerable rise in the near future even if Eastern markets should become firmer.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Babcock et al Acquitted.

WASHINGTON, Sept 30—The safe burglary conspiracy in which Gen Babcock and Thos P Somerville were defendants was concluded this evening by the jury returning a verdict of not guilty in each case. The jury was out two hours returning at about 6 o'clock. Persons present expressed their gratification at the result by cheers and other demonstrations.

More Rebel Outrages in South Carolina.

CHICAGO Sept 30—The Tribune's Washington special says: Gen. Worthington, collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., in a public speech here said more than fifty republicans have been assassinated since the nomination of Wade Hampton and it is certain not less than 200 more will follow in South Carolina before the election. Republicans are outraged and insulted in every city and town in the State, while walking the streets and even when partaking of the sacrament of the body and blood of Christ in their churches they are not free from insults and sneers on account of their principles. They ask the colored people to give them another chance to rule them, but they were a thousand times more degraded under the firm [illegible] than when slaves. During the last Presidential campaign over 900 negroes were brutally [illegible] for opinion's sake and over 3,000 men and women horsewhipped.

Hurricane Havoc.

WASHINGTON Sept 30—The American consul at Porto Rico reports that in the late terrible hurricane San Juan and the surrounding districts as far as heard from suffered terribly. There is hardly a house standing and what with the rise of the rivers and the sweeping away of bridges the cane crops and coffee estates are all ruined for the coming crop. Several coasting vessels were cast ashore, and several lives were lost.

Postal Changes.

Office established—San Juan City, Washington Territory, Joseph Swaney postmaster.

Reunion of the Army of the Tennessee.

The Tribune's Washington special says the society of the army of the Tennessee is making extensive preparations for a reunion Oct. 18th. A great many prominent persons connected with the army outside of the army of the Tennessee will be invited.

Two Men of Sandy Bar.

Tribune's Washington special says Bret Harte has been interviewed here concerning his play "Two Men of Sandy Bar." He says it will be a financial success and that the New York Herald has discharged the dramatic critic who severely criticised it.

Democratic Efforts to Carry Ohio.

The Tribune's Washington special has information received last night from New York from influential Democratic quarters that their managers began early last week to concentrate their energies on Ohio having concluded that the great effect of defeating the Republicans in October in Hayes' own State would more than compensate for the loss of Indiana through any possible [illegible]. Doubtless during the coming week every [illegible] the Eastern Democrats will be exhausted in the effort to carry Ohio. These managers have not [illegible] that the Republicans in that State are confident of success, that they are bringing all their whole strength into the canvass. However the betting fraternity of that city for the past four days past has been ranging as if they felt certain of an increase of Republican strength both in Indiana and Ohio and their betting has been greatly in favor of Republican victory in both States. The significance of this is evident from the fact that these members act upon the advice of very shrewd political observers whom they have on the ground for the purpose of furnishing information to betting headquarters in New York.

Babcock Congratulated.

The Inter Ocean's Washington special says: Babcock's acquittal, though so universally expected, caused hearty congratulations among his friends and even his enemies express satisfaction with the completeness of the vindication, and those who have harped so much on Whitely's statement now pronounce it an infamous outrage and regret that immunity was given him. Whitely has left for Colorado and will probably not appear here soon again.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Armistice Rejected by Servia.

BELGRADE Sept 30—There was a serious dispute yesterday between Prince Milan and Ristics, Servian minister of foreign affairs. Ristics insisted upon the conclusion of an armistice but the Prince would not listen to the proposition. Ultimately the war party prevailed and Ristics tendered his resignation which the Prince declined. With difficulty Ristics was persuaded to remain in office. England and Italy are greatly excited at Servia rejecting the armistice. The British representative speaking on behalf of Earl Derby said Servia must no longer rely on England for sympathy which she no longer deserves.

Mr R. Lowe on the Eastern Question.

LONDON Sept. 30—Robert Lowe publishes a letter this morning on the Eastern question. He insists upon the necessity of calling Parliament together to determine what present policy of the ministry is to be pursued.

Russia's Position on the Eastern Question.

The Times in a leading article says the Czar is doubtless anxious to keep the contest within the present limits and he is believed to have given pacific assurance to Emperor Francis Joseph in an autograph letter which is exciting the curiosity of the continent but there is reason to fear that if hostilities are not stopped immediately the healing influences of diplomacy will be baffled. A prominent St. Petersburgh paper is allowed to say Russia is resolutely and irrevocably determined to finish the Eastern question. The Czar thanks the town council of Nicholloff for their warlike address and no attempt is made to prevent the rush of soldiers to the Servian army. In fact the Russian people are introducing the startling novelty of applying the principle of limited liability to war. Russia will incur a heavy responsibility if she does not endeavor to stop the present excitement.

Object of the Czar's Autograph Letter.

PARIS Sept 30—Information from Vienna authorizes the statement that the object of the Czar's autograph letter to Emperor Francis Joseph is to induce Austria to enter into common action in the interest of peace.

Reply of the Porte to the Powers.

The substance of the Porte's reply to the powers has already reached the French government. It is said to be of a nature to accelerate the pacific solution of the Eastern question. The Porte only makes some reservations relative to reforms to be accomplished, and expresses the wish that the provinces to be affected by them should not be designated by name. The powers on the other hand desire to designate Bosnia, Bulgaria and Herzegovina by name.

Improbability of Peace.

BELGRADE Sept 30—It is said that Prince Milan will leave for Paratchin early next week. This is regarded as a proof of the improbability of any peace arrangements being concluded. It is said to be highly probable that Prince Milan will be crowned king as soon as he is removed from the restraint of Belgrade. Three hundred and sixty Cossacks arrived in Belgrade Friday. 200 more are expected on Saturday and 500 on Sunday.

RAGUSA Sept 30—Prince of Montenegro has left Cettinge to join his army.

The Extraordinary Council Fails to Meet.

CONSTANTINOPLE Oct 1—Contrary to expectation no meeting of the extraordinary council was held to-day to decide upon the reply to the peace proposals of the European powers.

The Czar's Proposal to Emperor Francis.

LONDON Oct 2—A Paris correspondent of the Times says the proposals contained in the Czar's letter to Francis Joseph will probably be sent to all the powers. They will certainly be received in Rome. The object of sending an autograph letter to Francis Joseph was to induce Austria to take joint action with Russia. It is reported that this letter after describing in detail the dangers of the situation and condemning original peace propositions proposes the immediate occupation of Bulgaria by her army and the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by the Austrian army, the watching of the Bosphorus by the navies of both powers, Servia to retain her present independence. This proposition is to make sure that the Russian interpretation of the term of self government will be in the reforms to be introduced by the Porte. Russia thinks this will stop the war and impose on the insurgent provinces the acceptance of the conditions stipulated for in their favor. Turkey is to put an immediate end to the war by granting a long armistice. It is now expected by the powers that the conference can alone decide the questions between Turkey and her vassals. Russia makes two conditions in acceding to a conference: first the conference is to be held in a neutral city, second it is to be composed of ministers of foreign affairs. No powers will object to these conditions if the Porte only grants the armistice, the powers are ready to undertake a peaceful settlement.

Russian Influence in Servia.

A dispatch from Belgrade says Gen. Sumarokoff the Russian envoy is not coming to Belgrade as was expected. The Russian element is steadily crowding out the Servian element. The preparations that are making in Belgrade and on the border of Russia are inconsistent with the pacific declaration of the cabinet at St. Petersburg. There are good grounds for supposing that Russia will soon openly take the responsibility of war which she has been waging under the flimsy cover of Servian flags.

Servian Forces Near Alexinatz.

LONDON Oct. 2—The Standard's Belgrade dispatch reports that the Servian forces between Alexinatz and Deligrade are estimated at 130,000 men with 140 guns. The only aim and effect of the Servians in accepting armistice was to secure time for General Tchernayeff to assemble an army in that quarter and surprise the Turks, it being his intention to cut off Fashi Pasha's army from Nisch, drive it into the mountains in the Kruschevatz district and there destroy it. As has already been reported the efforts of Thursday were unsuccessful. The Servian loss on that day was at least 2,000.

Hard Fighting Around Deligrade.

The Standard's dispatch from Deligrade states that the Servians have furiously attacked the Turks and have been again repulsed with a loss of 1,000 men. Another battle is imminent.

Emperor Francis Joseph's Reply.

A Vienna dispatch says the reply of Francis Joseph to the Czar's note will not be made until the Porte's answer to the peace proposals is reviewed.

James Lick Dying.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 30—At latest reports this evening, James Lick was still alive but sinking rapidly. He expresses considerable anxiety at receiving no tidings from his son in reference to the recent change of trustees. It is thought by many that his son intends to contest the new disposition of affairs and that tedious litigation may ensue. The trustees however, seem confident that matters are so arranged that no serious trouble can ensue.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 30—James Lick is lying in his apartments at the Lick House. The attendant physicians say his death is a matter of but a few hours. The trustees of his property are with him to hear any further requests he may make concerning the disposition of his affairs. Within a few days past he has several times expressed his increased satisfaction with recent arrangements for the management of the trust. No word has yet been received from his son John Lick and the court has not yet confirmed the change of the board of trustees but everything is so arranged that no complication will ensue. Mr Lick's disease has assumed no new phase. It is simply the decay of nature. For five days he has taken no nourishment whatever with the exception of a few spoonsful of coffee. He cannot probably live 24 hours longer.

Chinese Speculating in Wheat.

It is reported in presumably well informed quarters that Chinese operators are buying largely of choice grades of wheat and storing it for sale at advanced prices, which it is expected will be realized after the present rush for loading chartered vessels with which the harbor is over crowded.

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 30—Young Bittenbender convicted day before yesterday of the murder of his brother and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, this morning took his case before a higher court. He was confined in the county jail in a cell with W. H. Hawver and Robert Cass awaiting trial for civil offenses. This morning Hawver shaved himself and left the cell to go into court, leaving the razor on the shelf. Cass who was standing with his back to Bittenbender suddenly heard a hissing and gurgling sound and turning saw Bittenbender fall forward on his hands, his razor dropping from his hand and blood spouting from his throat. Cass caught him in his arms and called for assistance which was instantly rendered, but without avail, the suicide dying almost instantly. The floor, walls and ceiling of the cell were covered with blood which opened. Cass states that only from the beginning of his trial had Bittenbender seemed to realize the enormity of his offense. Since then he had been silent and moody. His cell mates had previously been careful never to leave their razor within his reach, fearing some desperate act on his part, and it was by accident that he obtained possession of it to accomplish his purpose.

Fatal Accident with a Pistol.

Last evening Thomas and Mary Conroy aged, respectively, 8 and 4 years children of Bridget Conroy, living on California street near Cemetery were playing together in a back room. Their mother who was in an adjoining apartment, heard a report of a pistol and running in discovered that the little boy had picked up a loaded derringer in the room and probably in childish play had fired at his sister, the ball taking effect in the back of her head and producing almost instant death.

Smallpox.

Only two new cases of smallpox this morning, one of which was a Chinaman who had died of the disease and been left on the street by his countrymen. The other case occurred in the city prison. Forty nine new cases have been reported during the past week and twenty three deaths. There have been forty three deaths at the pest house during the month.

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 1—A man named J Wilks an Englishman aged about 55 years committed suicide in a cheap lodging house on Clay street near Kearny this morning by opening the veins of his arm and bleeding to death. He left a letter addressed to A. G. Wood so badly written that scarcely any of it could be deciphered. The only legible words were "I can stand it no longer." Nothing further is known concerning him.

Death of James Lick.

Bullion Shipments—Scarcity of Miners.

AUSTIN Sept 30—Manhattan Silver Mining Company ships by Wells Fargo & Co to-night thirteen bars bullion valued at $1,800, making the total shipment for the week twenty five bars valued at $20,000, and completing shipments for September account, which aggregate $13,556 50. Manhattan Company are employing an unprecedentedly large number of men in their numerous mines and as many of these men receive day's pay in compensation for their services the companies not in a position to offer inducement of regular pay and whose mines are usually worked under the tribute system and where prospect work has usually been done by men receiving stock and leases on ledges struck, experience utmost difficulty in obtaining men to work upon the conditions stated. While Manhattan and other wealthy companies can always obtain men to work their mines upon day's pay many valuable mines are almost at a standstill through scarcity of labor men and inability of mine owners to meet the expense of the regular monthly pay roll. Excessively large forces are employed at the Oregon, North Starr, Bowman, Curtis and other mines owned and worked by the Mansfield Company. That company have now employed at Frost on Independence lode, where recent developments have made, no less than seventy-eight men divided into two shifts of thirty-nine each and as soon as their air connections are made from the Bowman mine on Panamint lode this force will be largely increased. As an indication of the scarcity of gold mining labor for tribute purposes at the present time it may be stated that the superintendent of a very extensive mine has for some time past been endeavoring to obtain a party of men to drive a crosscut for a valuable ledge, offering liberal footage and advantageous lease upon ledge when struck and although the ledge is known to be within a very short distance, it is impossible to obtain men to perform the work upon the conditions offered or indeed upon any others with exception of regular $4 per day.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

A SURFEIT OF LEGISLATION—EVILS OF THE ASSESSMENT LAWS—REGULATIONS OF FREIGHTS AND FARES.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM Sept 30 1876

A few days ago Chambers of Benton in one of his funny moods introduced in a House resolution the proposition that when any one member had introduced a dozen bills or more he should not be allowed to introduce any more bills until all the members wishing to introduce bills had also introduced a dozen bills or more. The resolution was offered in sport, of course, but it actually begins to look as if some such rule as it hints at, would have to be adopted so as to give all members a chance. Should all the members have as many measures as some have already presented the attention of the two Houses would be engaged on something over 3,000 bills during the session. There will, however, not be that number as several members have not shown such a mania for introducing bills and it may be possible that not over 500 will be brought into the two Houses. They are still rushing into the lower house at a lively rate as will be seen by your reported proceedings. As before, the principal object of legislative attack is the code and were the many attempts being made to change it either by alteration, amendment or repeal, all to be successful we would not be able to recognize it as the same system of laws which we now have. Almost every member seems to have found objectionable features in one part or another of the book and as the various alterations proposed are made, each one without any reference to any of the rest, the adoption of all would lead to make what is already regarded as a work of some "confusion" still "worse confounded." So far, however, there has not been any unwise haste in jumping at these proposed amendments, and it is more than likely that three-fourths of the bills brought up for this purpose will be killed in one way or another before they reach the executive for his signature.

THE TAX QUESTION

Among the subjects now receiving a large share of attention are the laws relating to the manner of making assessments and the levy and collection of taxes for State and county purposes, and though there seems to be a very wide spread sentiment that some radical change in these respects is necessary, and a number of bills are pending on the subject, none of them are perhaps perfect, and most of them will need considerable pruning and correcting before they can be safely tried as a part of our laws. One object to be sought in correcting the evils of which there is now so much complaint is the perfection of some plan by which all property not exempted by law will be taxed. In theory, of course, this is true at present, but it is far otherwise in fact. We have no reason to doubt the assertion made by an officer who has the best opportunity to know whereof he speaks, that "under the existing laws, not a dollar over one-half of the property in the State bears its proportion of the burdens of government." Whoever devises a system that, in this matter will do "equal and exact justice to all," will be entitled to the thanks of at least those who have hitherto paid their full share.

FREIGHTS AND FARES

On the railroads and rivers in the Willamette valley, and their proposed regulation by statute, is eliciting a good deal of discussion and there seems to be a great variance in the opinions expressed. The question came up in the committee of the whole Senate yesterday afternoon, Senator Richardson being in the chair. The committee sat to consider the resolutions introduced by Mr Whiteaker, of Lane:

WHEREAS It is the duty of the State to protect its citizens against the injustice and oppressions of accumulated capital when such capital is employed to oppress the productive industry of the country, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: First. That the creatures of the law cannot be above, nor free from the control or restraints of the law; that the Legislature cannot create a body, person or thing which shall be above the control of the State; that all laws ought to be just and enacted for the benefit of the people and when a law fails to accomplish that end it ought to be altered or amended until that object be attained; that corporations of this State are creatures of the law and must be subject to the law making power; that when privileges granted to subserve the public interest are abused, or become the instruments of oppressive exactions in the hands of those to whom they were granted it is the right and the duty of the Legislature to abolish, abridge or restrain the abuse of such privileges.

Second. That the carrying trade of this State is in the hands of two corporate companies, whereby charges are made unjust to the shipper, ruinous to the farmer and oppressive to the productive industry of the State; that it is the duty of this Legislature to so alter or amend the laws or to enact such new statutes as will afford such relief to the industry of the State as the circumstances may demand and at the same time do equal and exact justice to all.

Third. That there be a joint committee appointed by the two houses, consisting of two on the part of the Senate and three on the part of the House, whose duty it shall be to at once take the subject of these resolutions under consideration, and, at their earliest convenience prepare a bill which will remedy the evils herein complained of and report a copy of such bill to their respective houses.

The mover of these resolutions supported them in a brief speech before the committee and was followed by Senator Van Cleave, who endorsed the principle of the first resolution, but considered that the second involved grave legal questions and was not prepared to endorse it without further deliberation. While he thought one legislature could not pass a law that another could not repeal, alter or amend, the charter of a corporation might be regarded more in the light of a contract, and as such its provisions were beyond the reach of legislatures succeeding the one which gave it existence or passed the law under which the corporation was formed. He would like to hear some gentleman skilled in the law upon the question, and moved that Hon J. N. Dolph, of Portland, be invited within the bar to address the committee. The motion prevailed and Mr Dolph made quite a lengthy argument against the constitutionality of the proposed legislation as it was clearly in contravention of section 2 art. 11 of that instrument, which forbids the legislature to alter, amend or repeal any law respecting incorporations "so as to impair or destroy any vested corporate rights." His arguments were clear in showing the different provisions of the constitution of this State and that of Wisconsin, where laws regulating freights and fares had been passed, the organic law of that State making special provisions for the repeal, alteration or amendment of such laws without the very material qualification contained in the constitution of Oregon respecting the impairing or destruction of vested corporate rights. Mr Dolph was listened to with profound attention by the committee, but he failed to convince some of them. He was succeeded in his remarks by Senator Myers, who maintained that the legislative authority as representing the people, was supreme on this question and though he might not admit the force of the gentleman's argument against the constitutionality of the proposed legislation he did not believe that the resolution was true—in fact he thought the rates now charged were not extortionate, nor above what the company could reasonably afford. Next came Senator Odell who took a somewhat ultra ground on the subject; claimed that the people demanded action at the hands of the legislature on this question, and though he did not pretend to be a lawyer a comparison of the amount which a man could make hauling freight at the same rates charged by the railroad showed to him that the latter were too high and if the company was not able to pay any dividends it might be because they gave too many "passes" over their lines and he doubted not every Senator on the floor had one in his pocket. He was willing to make his contribution to the funds of the company and in a somewhat tragic manner took his pass from his pocket and tearing it to pieces threw it upon the floor. We have no doubt that the Senator will refund to the company any sum he may have saved by using the pass before this outburst of indignation, but we don't know, men's conduct is so strange. We are loth to coincide with the idea suggested by his remarks that the company expect such a small favor as a pass over the road for six weeks will influence a single vote. We have a higher opinion of even legislators than that.

After other Senators, among them Cochran of Linn in favor, and Watt of Washington, against the resolutions, the committee arose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again. As the matter now stands the first resolution is adopted by the committee of whole, the words "who have entered into a combination" have been stricken out, and the motion to adopt the remainder of the second is pending.

THE FREQUENT ADJOURNMENTS

Of the two houses have elicited expressions of disapprobation on the part of some who feel that the actual sessions should be longer and more frequent. Were the work all done in the full sessions this idea would be correct, but as the more important committees have generally remained together during the adjournments the business progresses quite as rapidly, the committees having to do a great deal of the work that consumes time. The adjournments thus far have not materially retarded the work of either branch.

SALMON IN THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The following, from a New York exchange, will be of interest to those engaged in the salmon business:

In consideration of the great demand and the enormous production of canned salmon each year, and the fact that salmon in Eastern waters have so diminished in numbers that they require the protection of the law, the question is naturally asked, How long can this great drain continue without exhausting the Western streams, and what are the probabilities of future supplies? Those in charge of the fisheries say that people residing in that part of the country for many years are unable to see any decrease in the number of fish annually going up the river, and that their nets, having meshes 8½ inches in size, only catch the largest fish, the smaller escaping. Moreover, as the fishing is always done at night, enough salmon pass up the river during the day to keep up the supply. Travelers state that the Territory of Alaska possesses all the conditions for successful salmon fishing, and that the rivers there are nearly inexhaustible in the abundance of that fish. Hence it is asserted that the supply will not be diminished for many years to come. Perhaps some may inquire why, if the production is so great and the supply almost inexhaustible should the price of fresh salmon rule so high? The transportation of fresh fish to a great distance is impossible, even with refrigerator cars, which are at best very imperfect. The fish would not bear the transportation from the Columbia river to San Francisco in any other shape than as canned or salted. Although the cost of the fish when caught is merely nominal, the number of [illegible] they go through and the expense of freight enhance their value, and the cost in this part of the country is not considered excessive by the men best qualified to give an opinion in the matter.

Fresh salmon as they are seen on the fish stalls of the New York markets, are brought from the large rivers running into the Atlantic along the coast of Maine and north of it. The largest sold in the New York markets are from the waters of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, St John's Bay, Miramichi river, Restigouche river and the Bay of Chaleur. The "catch" of salmon varies from year to year, as the fish run in the rivers when they are taken, and generally continues from May 1 to Aug. 15, when it [illegible] by order of the fish commissioners of Canada. The "best catch" is usually between May 1 and Aug 1, the largest fish running at that time. The total quantity of salmon caught in the Canadian waters this year was about 945,000 pounds, of which 450,000 pounds came to the New York market. The best of the fresh fish came from the Restigouche river, which furnishes an annual "catch" of 580,000 pounds. The rivers of Maine do not produce largely, only about 1,000 pounds reaching New York from the season's work on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers. The catch of salmon would have been remarkable this year, but for some unexplained reason the fish suddenly stopped running about the 1st of July. The quantity caught up to that time was nearly as large as the whole product of last year. Dealers estimate that the supply was diminished this year at least one-half by this singular freak of the fish. But so large was the catch during the brief season that the price of salmon fell from 30 cents a pound to 12½ cents. This probably would not have happened in New York but for an enterprise started by E. G. Blackford, of Fulton Market. He took advantage of favorable circumstances in the following way. A new branch road having been completed in the early part of June from Montreal to Campbellton, on the Restigouche river, an all rail route to New York was furnished, by means of which fish could be transported in 53 hours. Previous to this opportunity it was necessary to corn or salt the salmon. Mr. Blackford had six refrigerator cars, constructed with double walls six inches apart. The space between the walls was filled with sawdust, the best non conductor of heat except charcoal. The upper parts of the cars were arranged in such a way that they contained large quantities of ice, which was laid on racks made for that purpose, but no ice was placed on the bottom of the car. The fish, as soon as they were taken from the nets, were packed in snow—collected during the winter for this purpose in boxes, each of which contained 150 pounds. When the salmon reached New York and were taken from the snow they appeared as fresh and bright-colored as when caught. After being unpacked they were placed upon shelves in great refrigerator vaults, similar in many respects to the refrigerator cars. In these vaults the temperature is kept below freezing point by mixing salt with the ice. The temperature maintained is 24° Fahrenheit. In this condition the fish are kept for months, preserving their delicate flavor and solidity, which make the salmon so highly prized as a luxury. When taken from the vaults the fish are frozen stiff. In these vaults in addition to the fish are large crates filled with the legs of frogs ready for cooking as soon as thawed.

A supply of [illegible] for the winter is kept on hand [illegible] manner, but this year it will be [illegible] out 80,000 pounds being the total [illegible] to the present time. Great numbers of the fish obtained in the Restigouche river are canned and salted by a process similar to that used on the Columbia, which has been described. The Eastern producers, however are gradually abandoning the canning business as it is impossible to compete with the Pacific coast.

ABOUT POLITICO RELIGIOUS NEWSPAPERS

Readers of a certain class of political newspapers frequently meet with deprecatory allusion to or direct censure of religious journals for having anything to say upon the subject of politics A few days ago the Evening Standard of this city, the leading Democratic organ of the State took occasion to speak of the editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate as "the politico religious editor, etc Now every one who is familiar with the Advocate knows that such a characterization is wholly unwarranted by anything that has appeared in the columns of that paper It is strictly a religious journal, and conducted with such discriminating judgment that to apply the title of politico religious to it in the opprobrious sense in which the term is used by the Standard is as far from the truth as it is possible to go And yet the Advocate—and all other religious journals that have courage to discharge their duty toward religion—sometimes talks politics

We have not referred to this matter in order to defend the Advocate for it is abundantly able to take care of itself, but as illustrative of the sort of views which many persons, and especially many Democratic editors appear to entertain concerning the legitimate sphere of religious journalism, and at the risk of provoking the people who thus jibe at the religious papers to compound the adjective in a reversed order and demolish the OREGONIAN at once by calling it a religio-political journal, we propose to discourse briefly upon the relation of religious journalism to politics. At the outset it may be laid down as a maxim which no person pretending to the least degree of intelligence will dispute, that no political party has any excuse for existence which has not as its foundation some great moral question—some question of the right of man to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Political issues that are not bottomed in moral principle, and vitalized by a purpose to secure or protect some natural right of man, or in some way to better his condition, can no more command the attention and enlist the sympathies of the country than would a discussion of the doctrine of the transmigration of souls. Even the purely commercial questions that have agitated the country from time to time have been grounded on considerations affecting the natural rights of one class or another, or in the proposition to ameliorate the condition of some portion of the community. Can any religious newspaper, any religious teacher, ignore questions vitally affecting the rights or the well-being of mankind? Religion has long since outgrown the scholasticism that busied itself with controversies about abstract theology—about the "essence of Deity," the relative dignity of the Holy Ghost in the Holy Trinity,—and that sort of thing The religion of the nineteenth century, the religion of Christianity, finds employment in ministering to the moral wants of mankind and endeavoring to reduce their misfortunes and miseries, and in demanding righteousness at the hands of the secular readers. Here is common ground of religion and politics, or rather, ground in the field of politics into which religion can not refuse to enter without being false to itself, its mission and its divine author. No person is fit to have charge of a religious journal who lacks either the high appreciation of his vocation or the moral courage to take hold of political questions and political parties, too, for that matter—and discuss their moral and social aspects conscientiously and fearlessly. A paper calling itself religious, that stops short of this, is a libel on religion and a fraud on mankind There is not to-day a religious journal of respectability in the land which does not criticise or commend, with the unreserved freedom of a privileged monitor, political measures, parties and men, and it is to be hoped the disposition to do this salutory work will never be less than at present

HENDRICKS IN 1864

If there are any who do not already know that Thomas A Hendricks, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, is a patriot and an excessively modest man, we commend to their attention the following, which is the sort of poster he heralded himself with in the summer of 1864, when Lincoln was President and Hayes was down at the front, periling his life for the preservation of the Union

DON'T TAKE UP THE MACADAM

Why is the Macadam pavement on Alder street disturbed to make room for a wooden surface gutter, which will soon become a nuisance? We ask this question both because it is proper to be asked and in order to be in the fashion as everybody else is asking it. That street has been long regarded as one of the best in the city. The Macadam has been demonstrated by actual experiment to be superior to any other pavement in use in this city It makes a durable street is not liable to the charge of unwholesomeness, as the wooden streets are, as the time of their decaying comes on, and is smooth enough for all purposes When the street is crowning with the part next the sidewalk some inches lower than the middle, as is the case of Alder street the Macadam pavement forms a pretty good surface drain—if any surface drain is considered good, which we are not fully prepared to believe Now that natural drain is dug up from the foundations and a great ungainly square box gutter for drainage purposes takes its place—an obstruction to travel on the street and an offense to the eye We are not advised by what authority this is doing or whether any authority has been given at all But it is all advised and unfortunate for the Macadam to be replaced with wooden work Surface drainage, at the very best is not what the city needs but if it must have surface drainage let it not be aggravated by these hideous looking and more hideous smelling wooden troughs

The demand for a session of parliament this fall is growing so strong in England that the government will probably be obliged to concede to it notwithstanding, the fact that the first business which would come before it would be a vote of censure of the administration's policy on the Eastern question and the certain expulsion of the Earl of Beaconsfield's party from power The sympathies of the English people which once were with the Turks, are now with the insurgents and the feeling that the Turks should be expelled is almost universal

The Jersey City Express wants to know how Mr Blaine was able to lay up $200 000 in fourteen years out of an income of $5 000 perhaps Mr Tilden who his friends say laid up $3 000 000 in twelve years out of an income of $7 118 can give the Express the desired information

MRS JUDGE SAWYER—We clip from the Alta the following relative to the death of the accomplished wife of Judge Sawyer of the Supreme court

The many friends of Judge Lorenzo Sawyer of the United States circuit court, will sympathize with the afflicted Judge in his bereavement His late consort whose gentle spirit took its flight last Sunday was a lady whose presence and domestic virtues made home pleasant and attractive She was a good wife and mother and lived a quiet and unostentatious life, beloved by an affectionate husband and children of whom she left three Her family was among the early settlers of Nevada county How empty sad and unsatisfying appears this world and this life when a dear friend and associate—linked to us by ties that the heart can feel but the tongue cannot describe—has been taken away and we are left standing as a lone and wrecked mariner on the wreck in the midst of ocean But time may modify the intensity of sorrow although, perhaps never again can life seem as before. And the responsibilities that may still call for exertion, act as advisors—calling the heart away from its sorrow to the obligations of duties yet remaining. Duty, then comes as a mourner from the burial

AMUSEMENTS.

THE CIRCUS—LAST PERFORMANCE.—Montgomery Queen's immense pavilion was packed to overflowing Saturday afternoon at the matinee by the ladies and little folks In the evening there was a regular crusher it being exceedingly difficult to find seats for the crowds that came pouring in from all directions It is seldom that one sees such a fine assemblage congregated to witness a circus performance embodying as it did the wealth beauty, intelligence and social refinement of the city. The performance was in all respects entirely satisfactory as was clearly demonstrated by the hearty applause which crowned every individual feature of the entertainment from the grand entree to the concluding ludicrous duello by the Kennebel Brothers That the performance is in every respect worthy of public patronage is evinced by the fact that every performance given in this city has drawn a tremendous crowd which is certainly a most gratifying endorsement of the superior excellence of the combination We are pleased to chronicle the great success which has attended the enterprise of Mr Queen in bringing such a large and expensive company to this State He has shown himself in every respect worthy of the reputation which preceded him Mr Cole the efficient manager and Mr Colvin the treasurer are both courteous and obliging gentlemen and by their efforts to make every person feel comfortable and at home under the pavilion as well as their uniform politeness to all add greatly to the general popularity of the company Originally it was intended to give only three night and two matinee performances but in consequence of subsequent arrangements the company will remain in the city until to-morrow This will enable them to give a grand matinee performance this (Monday) afternoon and also a performance this evening The public will remember that these will be the last appearances of the combination in Portland Do not fail to improve the opportunities thus afforded The company will appear to-morrow and the following evening at Astoria and Thursday evening at Vancouver

CONSIGNED TO THE POTTER'S FIELD.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury summoned to hold an inquest over the body of the unfortunate young man who leaped into the river Friday morning and was drowned

We the undersigned jurors summoned to appear before A P Dekum coroner of the county of Multnomah in the State of Oregon on the 30th of Sept 1876, to inquire into the cause of the death of a person drowned in the Willamette river whose name is unknown, having been duly sworn according to law and having made such inquisition after inspecting the body, and hearing the testimony adduced upon our oaths do say that we are unable to ascertain the name of the deceased that he was aged about 25 years was light complexioned, slight mustache, in height about five feet nine inches, that he came to his death on the 29th of Sept 1876 in the city of Portland, by intentionally drowning himself in the Willamette river opposite the O S N Co's wharf (Signed) I G Chapman foreman Benj F Goodwin Geo C Sears W H Butts, A Keilpen, Ludwig Wilhelm

Every possible effort was made by the coroner to ascertain some definite information concerning the stranger suicide, but nothing satisfactory could be obtained No papers or letters were found on his person which could throw any light whatever on the subject as to the name or occupation of deceased nor where he came from Yesterday forenoon the remains were consigned to their last resting place in the county burying ground south of the city

The lime possesses superior merits for stone and brick work etc as it is very strong but for plastering the San Juan lime is rather superior as it is considered whiter There is an abundance of lime rock on the island and the supply is therefore unlimited They are now taking the rock from a high promontory 100 feet high, composed of solid lime stone This runs back a long distance into the center of the island and cannot be mined out for years Orcas island contains 70 square miles of land the most of which is well adapted to agriculture There are fifty voters on the island and about fifty farms under cultivation The principal farmer on the island is Mr Thomas Dixon who has 100 acres of excellent land under cultivation A large portion of this is timothy The island is especially adapted to the cultivation of fruit and vegetables and as some portions are hilly to the raising of sheep and goats There are now about 4 000 sheep on the island and some of these are fine Cotswolds One farmer received from California last winter a number of Angora goats which are flourishing finely It is now believed that these profitable animals will do as well on that island as in California There is a considerable amount of good farming land on the island still belonging to the government

HAYES AND WHEELER CLUB.

LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS

The regular meeting of the Hayes and Wheeler Club of Portland was held at Oro Fino Hall Saturday evening, Sept 30th 1876 and was largely attended

The Club was called to order by the secretary Jos Simon Esq

The president and vice president being absent on motion Dr W H Watkins was elected president pro tem

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved

On motion of Mr J H Stone the following resolution was adopted

Resolved That the secretary be instructed to call on Senator Mitchell and ascertain when it will be convenient for him to address this Club on the political questions of the day

Col W H Smallwood of Vancouver W T who had been invited to attend the meeting and address the Club was introduced and spoke for considerable time During the course of his remarks the speaker showed the profligacy and corruption in Pierce's and Buchanan's administrations—the last two Democratic administrations—and showed what the country could expect by again placing the Democracy in power He reviewed corruption under Democratic and Republican rule and showed that where Republicans had misappropriated thousands the Democrats stole millions He also showed where Democratic Congressmen and cabinet officers were interested in stupendous jobs and frauds on the national treasury Colonel Smallwood examined carefully Tilden's letter of acceptance and proved how utterly incomprehensible it is The speaker then reviewed at length and in eloquent terms the Republican party—its mission object and aim and the flattering results that it had accomplished

Throughout the address was replete with wit and humor and the many telling points made by the speaker kept the large audience in a pleasant humor and elicited repeated laughter and applause

At the conclusion of Colonel Smallwood's remarks the Club adjourned to meet Tuesday evening Oct 3d at 7 30 o clock

CYRUS NOBLE DISTILLERY, 1st Dist., O.

CINCINNATI April 1 1876

Messrs LILIENTHAL & Co

Gentlemen—I have just returned from a trip through Kentucky Ohio and West Virginia undertaken for the purpose of examining the various distilleries in those districts and I am now more than ever confirmed in the opinion so often expressed to you that your distillery is the most complete and best conducted of any in the United States

The careful selection of your grain, the purity of the water the slower and more cautious method of distillation is what gives the NOBLE WHISKY its superior qualities, and has gained for it the reputation which it universally sustains throughout the United States

Gratified that the 20 years devoted to the distillation of the CYRUS NOBLE WHISKY, has been attended with such happy results, I trust I may be spared to continue my labors in its interest, and that of its many patrons and consumers

I am Gentlemen

Yours faithfully

CYRUS NOBLE.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The great reputation which our Cyrus Noble Whisky has enjoyed in medical practice throughout the Eastern States and Europe for a period of nearly 25 years, prompts us to bring it to the notice of the Public of the Pacific Coast for similar use.

Its absolute purity, having by analysis been found to be entirely free from FUSEL OIL, and the improved quality imparted to it by its being retained in store for at least from 5 to 6 years after distillation has given to the Physician a remedy long sought for in his own Materia Medica.

The certificates we hold of its efficacious use in the treatment of cases where NERVOUS PROSTRATION exists and vitality is at a low ebb, as is frequently observed in fevers endemic to our country, of DYSPEPSIA, with its whole train of gastric troubles, of diseases of the LIVER and the BLADDER, of CONSUMPTION affording effective and ready relief to the afflicted victim, and of putrid diseases or blood poisoning, resulting in its use as a disinfectant the sufferer from premature death are all highly gratifying to us, and we believe we owe it to our numerous patrons on the coast to use every endeavor to introduce it here

Very respectfully,

The Eugene City mills have been leased for a term of years by A. S. Patterson and Mr. Edris.

The raising of flax is creating quite an interest among the Lake creek (Linn county) farmers.

R. T. Lusk was killed about 8 miles south of Roseburg on the 24th. He having fallen from a wagon, the vehicle running over him.

Articles of incorporation have been forwarded to [illegible] to incorporate an Agricultural Society in Baker county. The names of the [illegible] are C. M. Foster, C. M. Kellogg, O. H. Schellworth, W. A. Crawford and J. M. Stephens.

A very rich vein of ore has been struck in the [illegible] of Klippel, Fisher, McDonough, Kahler & Co., situated in the vicinity of Fort Lane. Gold is very plain in the rock, some of which averaged $15 a pound when crushed in a mortar.

The bridge over Rogue river, at Dardanelles, has been completed, and is reported to be one of the [illegible] structures in Southern Oregon. It is 378 feet in length, and has a Howe truss in the center 120 long. Mr. J. O. Johnson, of Oakland, was the contractor and builder.

A correspondent at Weston writes: Harvest is over and the farmers are busy hauling their wheat to market, but as 40 cents is all they can get, it is not very encouraging to them. Although the yield of grain of all kinds is good. Richard Ginn, living one-half mile from this place, had twenty acres of wheat that averaged 60 bushels per acre, and Mr. Vanwinkle threshed 64 bushels of oats to the acre from 40 acres of ground. Cheap transportation is all we need to make this the best farming country in America.

A correspondent of the Dallas Itemizer, writing from Sheridan, says: "Sheridan is improving some this summer. The mill is ready to grind and the Masonic Hall is ready for the shingles. One new dwelling has been put up this summer. Additions are also being made to several houses. The old church has been moved out on Main street and is being fitted up for a [illegible] shop. There are 2 stores, 1 drug store, 2 blacksmith shops, 1 wagon shop, 1 barber shop, 1 butcher shop, 1 saloon, 1 furniture store, 1 livery stable, 1 Good Templar lodge, 1 Freemason lodge, 1 Grange. [illegible] is getting on slow on account of the rain."

A note from Scio, dated Sept. 30th, says: The north half of the new bridge being built across the North Santiam, at Green's ferry, fell down on Thursday, injuring six men and breaking part of the timbers. It seems that the keying up of the stringers in the center to give them the proper curve, lifted the ends so that they rested but little on the piers, and in moving heavy timbers from the north to the south, the ends of the stringers were slipped from the piers (the bridge not being braced endwise,) and the entire south half was precipitated to the ground, resulting in the injuries above stated. John McQueen had his hip [illegible], Mr. Myers, the contractor's son, and a Mr. Rooney, received injuries from which it is thought they will not recover. We have not been able to learn the names of the other men nor the extent of their injuries. All are well cared for and doing as well as could be expected.

A correspondent writing from Myrtle creek to the [illegible] Independent, says: "The country is steadily improving in the way of clearing up lands, fencing, etc. The town of Myrtle Creek is growing pretty fast. The new grange store, with 20 foot walls, a fine building, also a nice two-story dwelling under way, and lumber being hauled for another of similar dimensions, new barns, stables and other improvements. Up South Myrtle, and go but a short distance, is a large barn, the size of which has been doubled by shedding this fall, so as to hold the abundant crop just raised. The next is a new barn, nearly completed. From thence a little way we come to a house nearly done, a large hay shed and other improvements about the place. At the old sawmill are marked improvements. A new bridge is being built across Myrtle creek, which will be a great benefit to those living on Day's creek, as well as those on Myrtle, especially in the winter. Close by a new sawmill is under way. About one-half mile further a fine house is approaching completion, and so on as we go up the creek we see new improvements. Who can beat this, when comparing the number of settlers?"

It may not be generally known that the nickel deposit near the Gap, Lancaster county, Pa., is considered the largest yet discovered in the world and the only deposit of the ore worked in America. The mine is on the high dividing line between Chester and Pequea valleys. Besides nickel, copper, iron and limestone are found in the same locality. Nickel was discovered here about the year 1856, though copper, which is taken from the same mine, was known in this locality seventy years ago. The ore has a gray color, is very heavy, and so hard that it is mined entirely by blasting. After the ore has been broken into small fragments it is put into kilns holding eighty or ninety tons each and subjected to heat produced at first by the burning of a small quantity of wood, continued by the conversion of the expelled gas. It is then put into a smelting furnace, and undergoes a treatment similar to that of iron ore.
